KEY NOTES

Did you know that Texas spends only 18 cents per student each year for music education? I didn't either until they announced the Texas Music Project last week. It's a new statewide initiative to strengthen (in some cases, restore) music education in Texas schools. The campaign will be called "Don't Mess With Texas Music." Great idea! And who better to be the honorary chairman than Willie Nelson! It starts in a big way in September with the release of the first volume of the "Don't Mess With Texas Music" CD series. The proceeds will support the Texas Music Project and will feature 21 Texas artists, including Stevie Ray Vaughn, The Dixie Chicks, Lucinda Williams, Marcia Ball, and Delbert McClinton.
